

My friends have created some legislation we want you to push through Congress. It's called the Saving America From Future Terrorists Acts Act.

Oh, that sounds like a wonderful bill. I'll get most of the other Democrats to support it too. You and Dick and your friends can always count on me. After all, I always vote to give tax dollars to Halliburton, Bechtel and Blackwater and I always back future wars and acts of genocide.

This is a terrible bill.

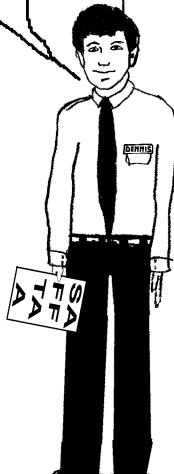

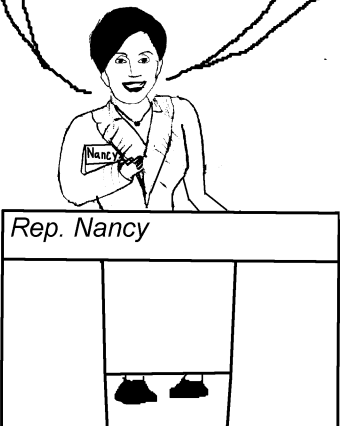

What! You oppose the Saving America from Future Terrorists Acts Act! How un-American!

Well, I'm voting for it and so are most of the other Democrats. That's why I'm the minority leader.

The "terrorists acts" this bill bans are legislative acts sponsored by Democrats. This bill also calls for the execution of all Democratic babies.

Picky. Picky. Picky.

Well, I'm voting for it, Dennis. If the Saving America from Future Terrorists Acts Act passes, you can't introduce any of your liberal bills.

Neither can you or any other Democrat under this legislation.

Why would I sponsor liberal legislation? I still can't read. Besides, it's against new Democratic policy to sponsor good legislation.

Whose Democratic policy?

Mine.
