

You may have heard allegations that members of the GOP are running around committing felonies. What you need to realize is that being a Republican is hard work.

First, when Republicans get caught committing crimes or killing more Americans than bin Laden for no reason at all, we need to come up a lot of good excuses, like we were molested by priests right after our dogs all died and our wives threatened to leave us over our girlfriends, like Condi. Though I've got Condi believing bigamy is legal and that we're really married. That's why she keeps slipping up and calling me her "husb, I mean the President."

Now, with all the hard work we do committing crimes, calling terror threats to distract people from the real issues, torturing people and kids, blowing up babies, teaching dogs to eat prisoners, coming up with bills to strip-search children, and take away your civil liberties, we need your support and respect. After all how many of you have done all that hard, distasteful work? If we don't do it, who will? So, remember, if you support hard workers, you must vote GOP in November.

What a great speech. He's got my vote.
