

4 Years ADP (After Dennis is elected President)

Things are getting boring. There are no more wars. Everybody likes us and we like everybody.

Yeah. The defense fund is being used to build mansions for the homeless. And since all the high-paying jobs came back when Dennis pulled us out of NAFTA and the WTO, we really didn't need that tax cut – especially since everyone has free, quality health care and free college, now. We weren't prepared for all this prosperity.

My class is going to visit one of those ancient refineries. Remember when people used gasoline to power cars. The environment is clean now that we are using safe, alternative fuels. I'm glad Dennis closed down all those nuclear power plants and buried their waste and all the nuclear weapons in Crawford, Texas per public demand.

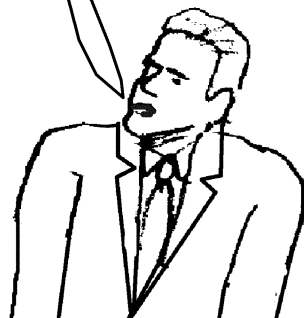

And I'm glad it's safe to eat meat again. Dennis regulated the meat industry and got rid of mad cow and all those dangerous cannibalistic foods with hormones the cows and chickens and other animals were eating. Fruits and vegetables are no longer poisoned. All food is safe.

I guess there's no reason for anyone to be unhappy.

This is terrible! I'm the terminator. There is nobody to terminate now that wars, terrorism and the death penalty are abolished! Everyone is into peace and good will. Yuck! Bring back war and violence. And now that Dennis has lowered the voting age, those kids are electing nice guys and I'm out of a job. I hate nice guys. I want to kill! Kill! KILL!

*Merry Christmas from the creators of
The Continuing Adventures
of Bully George and the Loyal Opposition*