

Those fainting spells were priceless. I hope they don't notice our candidate has no documented background, unlike his advisors.

We need more money for our hangout in Paraguay – in case we don't pull this off. Let's hope our guy doesn't double cross us when he gets into office

His supporters don't even care that they don't know who he is

His foreign policy adviser co-founded the Trilateral Commission and backed Pol Pot of the Cambodian Killing Fields. Our guy hasn't double crossed us so far. He backed the Wall Street bailout.

Good thing the Three Superheroes of Government are busy campaigning. The last thing we want are honest superheroes knowing what we're planning. They might force our guy to act honorably once in office and have us arrested in the process.

Did you catch that, Cynthia and Dennis?

Ron, you and I have our work cut out for us keeping America honest.

And I'm going to fight for the American people in the Presidential election.
